CHAPTER – 6

SCOPE OF WORK

Departments of Education in various States/UTs recognize the need to undertake a holistic assessment of the education reform process and measures needed to improve the same. Besides, States are unable to tap adequate funds from Centrally Sponsored Schemes like SSA and RMSA due to inadequate sector analysis and resource planning. One of the key challenges in school education is quality of education and outcome related indicators. Educational interventions must feed into overall social development. A sustainable livelihoods perspective brings disciplines and makes education more relevant to the holistic reality of the rural poor. Achieving food and livelihood security is a necessary condition for education to contribute to sustainable livelihoods. The vision of education has to be values based and lead to appropriate action. It involves building information, awareness, knowledge, skills, attitudes and behavior (including emotional quotient, attachment, empathy, sympathy etc.). Various studies suggest that a large number of children graduating from schools are unemployable. Therefore, it is important to review the entire chain right from the early childhood development policy and operational standards including nourishment and stimulation. It is also important to recognize and make use of learning and potential possessed by the people of States (e.g. knowledge of English language, financial literacy skills etc.).

The gaps in education quality can be effectively bridged only through a holistic approach. Therefore, it is expected that the consultant team will be responsible for reviewing the school education system (including early childhood - pre-school) in select State(s) across themes. Two of these States are likely to be hill States with large tribal populations, one a major metropolis, and others from among the newly formed states. It is expected that the duration of the project will be approximately six months (for each State/UT) comprising of mostly desk-based (with some field visits/consultation) work. However, EdCIL reserves the right to award the work related to all States or more, some States, or none at all, depending upon the requirements of the end-client, i.e., the concerned State government.

Bidders will be expected to submit their financial proposal based on costing for one state, with the understanding that the same cost will be applicable any other state(s) category mentioned above. The outstation and local travel, stay (wherever applicable) shall be reimbursed as per the EdCIL's norms.

The consultant must therefore demonstrate its capacity to manage all activities within the designated timeframe. The key areas to be covered in the review are as follows:

Teacher Management and Development:

- Functioning of DIETs and SCERT
- In-service teacher training
- Modern pedagogical interventions (including use of ICT for pedagogy)

Education Governance and Accountability

- Governance and administration in education
- Extent of decentralization of management systems
